

Wildlife webcams

All ages

Technology now allows us all to watch animals in their natural habitat without leaving our own homes. Below is a list of live wildlife cameras in the U.K that are free to watch.

Here are some ideas to do once you have looked at each camera.

- Make a set of top trump cards for these and some other native birds.
- Make a true/false quiz about each bird for someone else in the family.
- Draw or paint your favourite bird and share it with us on social media using the hashtag #suntrapathome

Red-billed Chough

The Chough is a member of the crow family. Look for its bright red bill!

<http://chough.org/chough-nest-webcam>

Peregrine Falcon

The fastest animal on the planet! The Peregrine Falcon can reach up to 200mph in a dive. This webcam is on the roof of Salisbury Cathedral where this pair have nested for several years.

<https://www.salisburycathedral.org.uk/visit-what-see/peregrine-falcons-0>

Barn Owl

While you won't see a lot of activity during the day, this nocturnal bird is an accomplished hunter at night. Try and watch the live camera at dawn and dusk.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ww4UJUegC0I>

Osprey

Also known as the sea hawk or fish hawk, this bird of prey exclusively eats fish.

This live stream shows the regular nest of a pair of birds expected to return from Africa in April.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5dc77uuwWjs>

