

Suntrap Book Review

10 things I can do to help my world

Written by Melaine Walsh

Published by Candlewick £9.99 (b/b)

Age range: Three – seven year-olds

Description

This book offers 10 ways kids can help take care of our planet. Discover how to reduce, reuse, and recycle and conserve energy through vibrant illustrations and simple ideas.

Do you remember to turn off the tap while you brush your teeth?

How about using both sides of the paper when writing and drawing?

Many of them, such as turning off the television properly, walking to school and turning off lights when leaving a room, are about conserving energy.

Bold, child-friendly illustrations and die-cut pages will draw even the youngest listeners to this gentle reminder of the easy, everyday ways we can be kinder to the earth.

Reviews

'I LOVE THIS BOOK! This book is so fun! It's made of recycled materials. After each thing, there is a half-page to turn. It's super simple but in a good way. The last page is my favourite because you flip down a picture of the Earth. I would definitely use this for a go-green event. I think kids would have fun flipping the pages down. A simple book like this is perfect to give kids easy ways they too can help the environment.' Faith Walton

'I would like to begin by stating that I thoroughly enjoyed this book and shall be reading it during story time at some point in the future! WOOT WOOT! I particularly enjoyed when each of the ten things to help the world were initially mentioned, a fact about why the world would be helped because of (insert one of the 10 Things I Can Do to Help My World here) was provided.

This book is, without a doubt, one of the best ways to introduce ideas to children about how they can help the world. Just because something seems small and insignificant does not mean that it cannot help the world.' Chelsea

'I love this book! It is very unique in that it has cut-outs throughout the book that surely would engage even a young reader. The tips included are very practical and would help a child grasp that our world is beautiful and it is our job to do our part in keeping it that way. I'm so glad I found this gem of a picture book.' Erin Puskas